Discover the best ways to reach us if you're travelling...

...by plane

FROM LINATE AIRPORT

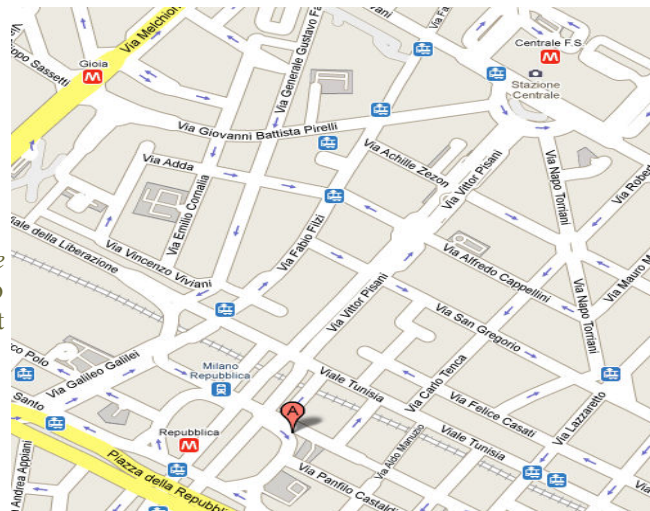

Linate Airport is the closest Milanese airport at only 7 km (roughly 4 miles) away. In order to reach us (if you don't have AIRPORT PICKUP) you can choose between getting a taxi (cost is about 20.00 €) or using public transportation. In this case just wait for bus ATM 73 outside the terminal (frequency 12 min.) and stop in Cinque Giornate Square (12 stops); then wait for tram line 29/30 directed to Central Station and stop in Repubblica Square (6 stops). (Cost is just 1 € and you can get ticket in the ticket machine near the bus 73 stop outside the terminal). In addition, an airport shuttle Starfly bus connects travelers from Linate to Central Station every 30 minutes. (Tickets are € 4 and the journey takes about 20 minutes).

FROM MALPENSA AIRPORT

Malpensa is the biggest airport in Milan area and it is 50 km from Milan's city center (about 31 miles). If you decide to get a taxi, cost is about 90 – 100 € with a travelling time of 40 – 50 minutes depending on traffic. About public transportation both bus and train service are options. A shuttle train, the Malpensa Express, departs from Malpensa every 30 minutes and goes to Cadorna Station (near Castello Sforzesco). Tickets are 11 €. A bus, the Malpensa Shuttle, is also from the airport to Stazione Centrale (Central Station) until 10:30 PM daily. Tickets are €7.50. The journey can take up to an hour. In order to reach us, from Cadorna Station get the Milan Subway Metropolitana (line green direction "Stazione Centrale (5 stops) and then line yellow direction "Repubblica" (1 stop). If you arrive directly to "Stazione Centrale" just get Subway line yellow, direction "Repubblica" (1 stop). Both Linate and Malpensa are managed by the same company and share a common website: <http://www.sea-aeroportimilano.it>.

FROM ORIO AL SERIO AIRPORT

Orio al Serio Airport is located near Bergamo, east of Milan: it is becoming more and more important, being the preferred base of low-cost airlines. The third of Milan's airports is located 5kms east of Bergamo and 45kms northeast of Milan. There is no direct train connection with Milan, but there is a bus service "Orio Shuttle" to and from Milan's Central Station (Frequency 30 min. - ticket cost 9 €). Taxis are available at the airport as well. (cost approximately 100 € - travelling time 40 – 50 min.). In order to reach us get the Subway from "Stazione Centrale" to "Repubblica" (1 stop, line yellow). More info on the airport's website: <http://www.sacbo.it>.

...by train

Getting to Milan by train is convenient as the city has direct links with all major cities in Italy (Venice, Turin, Genoa, Florence, Rome, Naples, etc.), as well as many destinations in Western Europe (Paris, Barcelona, Bruxelles, Geneva, Bern, Stuttgart, Munich, and more). The Stazione Centrale is a monument in itself, Two underground lines (green and yellow), as well as many tram and bus lines, link the station to all main points of interest in Milan. It's located 10 minutes away by taxi (cost approx 10 €) or 15 minutes walking. You can choose also to get the Subway (line yellow direction "Repubblica"). That's the fastest way..

...by car

- Arriving from east on highway A4 (Venice-Verona-Brescia) we suggest you take exit Viale Fulvio Testi.
- Arriving from southwest on highway A7 (Genova-Cinque Terre) the suggested exit is Milano Centro – San Gottardo.
- Arriving from northwest on highway A8-A9, (Turin-Lakes) take exit Viale Certosa.
- Arriving from south on highway A1 (Bologna-Florence-Rome-Naples) looks for the Corvetto exit and then follow signs towards the center.
